Death of Mrs. Cloud Harvey.

Mrs. Elizabeth Harvey, wife of Hon. Cloud Harvey, died at her home in Barnet, Sept. 12, after a long illness. She was born at Powder Springs in Topsham, Sept. 1, 1830, and was married to Mr. Harvey Dec. 9, 1856. To them were born six children: Fanny, Mrs. Elijah Lyford of South Peacham, George of Wauweta, Neb., Julia, Mrs. Gale of Colorado, who died several years ago, Walter, Helen, Mrs. Charles Williams of Hudson, Mass., and Margaret, Mrs. E. R. Mackey of St. Johnsbury. Mrs. Harvey's health has been frail for several years, but having an unusual amount of energy she kept up until last January, when she was taken ill and confined to the house for several months, then rallied and was able to ride out a few times, but for six weeks or more has been gradually failing. Mrs. Harvey was a woman of sound mind and strong character, devoted to her family, helpful in every good cause, and will be much missed by the church, of which she was a member and by a multitude of friends and relatives, beside her husband and children, who have the sympathy of the entire community. Two sisters, Mrs. George of St. Johnsbury, and Mrs. Renfrew of Ryegate, survive her, and one brother, R. M. Harvey, of Montpelier. The funeral was held at her late home Friday afternoon, attended by a host of relatives and friends from Barnet and the surrounding towns. A profusion of beautiful flowers testified to the love and esteem in which she was held. The burial was at Peacham. For several years she had been nearly blind, but her interest in every one was such that her affliction was hardly noticeable, as she seemed to know, intuitively, each one she met. Among the many relatives from out of town present at the funeral were Will Abbott and two sisters from Canada, J. C. Harvey and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ricker from Groton, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. The wedding party entered the parlor to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by a sister of the bride, Miss Lillian Enright, who also played, "O Promise Me," during the ceremony, and the wedding march from Mendelssohn. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father beneath an arch of evergreen, from which was suspended a wedding bell. The entire corner of the room was banked with evergreen and white phlox. The rooms were beautifully decorated with clematis, potted plants and cut flowers. The bride was lovely in a princess gown of princess net over white tulle, with trimmings of Princess Louise lace. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of white sweet peas with maiden hair fern. She is a charming young lady and during her short residence in town has made a host of friends, as was attested by the generous gifts and quantities of choice flowers sent by the townspeople.
